

SAT/ACT PREP OPPORTUNITIES –2016-2017

The following are a list of college exam prep resources that vary in fees and time commitment. Although student services strongly encourages students to prepare for the exams, we do not recommend a specific program. We suggest that parents and students research the programs to find a good match for their needs. Remember, a student does not have to spend a lot of money to practice and prepare for these standardized exams. Khan Academy is an excellent resource that personalizes a student's SAT prep and it is free! Students must directly register for the SAT and/or ACT through their online sites. These sites also offer free practice opportunities.

Khan Academy – College Board has partnered with Khan Academy for to offer free, personalized, comprehensive test prep for the newly revised SAT. There are full-length practice tests from the College Board as well as thousands of practice questions and instructional videos. The personalized practice recommendations are tailored to student's strengths, weaknesses, and progress. Some awesome features: Linked to your PSAT results; instant feedback; parent link; and a mobile app.

Students need a College Board Account to view scores and access college and career planning tools – <https://www.collegeboard.org>
